"Joe has a unique combination of incredible knowledge and practical experience. Joe has a very personal style of connecting with students that provides him with the ability to influence students to overcome many of their hurdles to success."

Stan Hacker, ED Lionsgate Academy (retired)

Utilizing a comprehensive evaluation and treatment model, I assist individuals in enhancing their strengths, while providing efficacious supports that help them to address those areas of need that may be preventing them from meeting their potential.

In collaboration with my clients and their families, I work to develop innovative treatment plans that take into account their needs, values, and cultural backgrounds. Along with the best available evidence guiding decisions related to evidence-based practices, I incorporate complementary and/or alternative approaches as is appropriate to provide effective treatments and supports for my clients' needs.
